This worker spoke with Social Worker Beth Calhoun today with regards to the concerns in front of the Department. Beth indicated the parent of the child attempted to take the child to Henry County Health Center (HCHC) where they could not examine the child for potential concerns of another child inappropriately touching that particular child. The parent then took the child up to the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics for a full physical examination. UIHC indicated there was no immediate need or concern to have the child forensically examined both physically and with regards to the concerns present. UIHC did complete a physical examination which resulted in the child having a Urinary Tract Infection (UTI) which could be the reasoning behind the child's itchiness and inflamed area. The child's parent insisted the other parent drive the child up to St. Luke's Hospital. This hospital staff indicated there was no need to have additional examinations or forensic interview of the child. This worker scheduled a visit to see the child care provider with regards to supervision concerns on Thursday, January 5, 2023.

Social Worker Beth Calhoun and Chad Reckling, SW II met with Amy Liles today at her child care home. This worker and SW Calhoun spoke with Amy with regards to the concerns before the Department as stated above. There were six daycare children present during today's visit. The older child involved with the complaint was eight years old. Amy indicated this eight year old child was not present during the day in question (12/22/22) when the inappropriate sexual activity would've happened. The younger child would've been present on that day at 5:45 in the morning and usually leaves at 7:30 am on Fridays or on no school days. Amy indicated the eight year old child is present at the daycare home when the younger child is also at the daycare home from 3:30 PM till 4:10 PM or 4:30 PM every day after school. Amy was asked if the daycare children are ever left alone and she responded they are never left alone and because of the layout of the daycare environment in the basement of her home, it is an open layout and everything would be visible. Amy did state unless she has an emergency with her mother-in-law upstairs, but she takes all of the daycare children with her upstairs when this happens. Amy stated she normally has six or seven children at any given time during the day. Amy indicated she has watched the younger child who is the subject of this complaint for roughly one year. Amy indicated there is no time she could recall the younger child complained of their privates hurting or this youngest child has never told her anything of it hurting while they urinate, etc. Amy reported this youngest child usually gets there at 5:45 in the morning and Amy usually ends up waking the child up at 7:00 am to 7:30 am.

Amy indicated she has no concerns with regards to the parents of the youngest child in question. Amy indicated past concerns came from the parents who reported Amy did not change this child's diaper. On the day in question, December 22, 2022 there were three children in care as the weather conditions were canceling schools on that day. This date would have been the last day she would have had this child in care. Amy reported this identified child slept the entire time on this date in care and the child's parent had to wake the child up when they came back after work was canceled. Amy stated the day before when the child was present in care, the child did not say anything about their privates hurting or anything occurring. Social Worker Calhoun expressed she had no concerns with regards to this incident occurring at this childcare environment.
