CHILD CARE COMPLIANT

Rule Basis and Findings of Complaint(s):

441 IAC 110.8(7) Meals and snacks.b. Children may bring food but are not required to provide their own food.
110.6 No more children are in care than the number authorized on the registration certificate.
110.9(3) Substitutes

This worker completed an unannounced visit to the Korene Shady child development home on 6/29/2026. Korene was not originally present upon arrival. Korene's assistant was present, however, assistants are not allowed to be left alone with children. There were also 10 kids in care at this time, over the number allowed for a category B child development home. Korene returned after several minutes. We discussed the concern of leaving children with an assistant and also being over capacity. A safety plan was completed with Korene regarding these areas.

This worker informed Korene of the additional concern that she requires parents to provide their children's food daily. Korene denied requiring parents to provide food. Korene did state that she tells families that if they want to bring their own food, they can, but it's not required. Korene stated that sometimes there are picky eaters and the parents prefer to send lunches for their children to ensure they are eating something daily. Korene reported that she has a couple of kids who bring their food and a few that also bring snacks for the entire group. Korene added that this is all the parents' choice and is not something she requires. Korene provided a few names of parents for this worker to contact to discuss the concern regarding food. This worker spoke to two parents on 7/13/2026. One parent stated that Korene does not require them to provide food. This parent stated that they have very picky kids and one child who has textural issues with food, so they do send food daily. This parent added that if it's a particular meal that the child likes, the child eats that instead of their packed lunch. This parent had no concerns with Korene's care stating that she is fantastic and they love her. A second parent stated that Korene does not require them to provide their own food. This parent added that they are given the opportunity to do so if they have pick children or kids with allergies, however they are not required to do so. This parent stated that the only thing they have ever provided was breast milk when their child was an infant. This parent had no concerns with Korene's care and supervision.

Findings:

There is not a preponderance of information to support the concern that Korene requires parents to provide food for their children.

There is a preponderance of evidence to support that Korene was over her allowed capacity on 6/29/2026 and that she did not have a substitute providing care.

Resolution and Action Required:

Due to the additional concerns of Korene being over capacity and having an assistant serve the role of a substitute, a written safety plan was completed with Korene on 6/29/2026.

This worker contacted parents of enrolled children to discuss the concern of Korene requiring parents to bring their child's food daily.

A full compliance visit was completed on 6/29/2026. Noncompliant items are documented in separate compliance letter.
